

18 SEPTEMBER 1961

REMEMBERING UN SEC-GENERAL
DAG HAMMARSKJÖLD (1953-1961)
and his
DECOLONIZATION PROGRAM FOR WEST PAPUA

UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was killed on 18 September 1961 under suspicious circumstances near the Congo border during peace talks.

The Secretary-General was a champion of decolonization and self-determination and oversaw seventeen independent states admitted to the United Nations between 1953 and 1960.

An Australian George Ivan Smith was a close friend and trusted colleague of Dag Hammarskjöld. In 1982 Greg Poulgrain interviewed him at his home in England.

Ivan Smith revealed Hammarskjöld's plan to return sovereignty to the West Papuan people during the 1961 UN General Assembly.

Dag Hammarskjöld was killed on 18 September 1961, three days before the opening of the 1961 General Assembly.

Greg Poulgrain's ground-breaking research exposes the mastermind behind the intricate details and complexities of the deaths of Dag Hammarskjöld and JF Kennedy, and why their deaths are interwoven with the demise of the Indonesian state and the over-ride of the West Papuan people's sovereignty.

Sixty years on, people all over the world plant trees to remember the legacy of Dag Hammarskjöld, the truth revealed by George Ivan-Smith, and the strength of the West Papuan peoples' claim to self-determination and independence.
